

AGS recognizes that stewardship of the environment is the collective responsibility of governments, business, communities and individuals. AGS' intent is to conduct our business in harmony with the environment and to minimize any impact our operations may have.

Our goal is no damage to the environment; our challenge is to deliver this along with our products. To achieve this, AGS will conduct all operations based on:

- Assessing the local environments in which we work.
- Assessing our impact on those environments.
- Planning operations to minimize against those impacts.
- Compliance with applicable laws, regulations and guidelines.
- Seeking the means for continuous improvement.

Our environmental efforts will be based on the implementation of five key strategies at work locations:

1. Minimization of waste by design and purchase.
2. Managing waste output to follow best environmental practice.
3. Guarding against accidental and operational pollution.
4. Provision for mitigation of any accidental and operational pollution.
5. Site remediation after operations.
